ALASKA TRAILS NEWS

ALASKA TRAILS RECEIVES NATIONAL AWARD FOR TOOL TRAILERS

The Coalition for Recreational Trails (CRT) recently honored the Alaska Trails Mobile Tool Trailers with a 2014 Annual Achievement Award for outstanding use of Recreational Trails Program (RTP) funds in the category of Use of Youth Conservation and Service Corps. The award was presented at a reception in Washington DC on the evening of June 11.

Alaska Trails is a statewide non-profit group dedicated to building and maintaining Alaska's world-class trails. Alaska Trails has two mobile tool trailers – one in Fairbanks and one in Anchorage, that have supported over 30 miles of sustainable trail building by local, state and federal agencies, service groups since 2007. Both trailers are equipped with safety equipment and more than 50 different hand tools. During June - October of 2011 alone, the two trailers were responsible for generating over 4,000 volunteer hours.

Alaska Trails was awarded an RTP grant in 2013 to replace the popular tool trailers and purchase new tools and equipment to outfit them. The Anchorage trailer was instrumental in hand-finishing six miles of new single-track mountain bike trails in Anchorage in 2013. The trailers have been used by many youth trail builders including the Student Conservation Association (SCA), the Anchorage Youth Employment in Parks, and the Chugach Children's Forest.

"We are honored by this award and are proud that our tool trailers have helped inspire the next generation of trail stewards," said Steve Cleary, Alaska Trails executive director. "These trailers put the right tools in the hands of the right volunteers. They help keep costs down by harnessing great volunteers and they really get people to take a deep interest in their trails."

The CRT Achievement Awards were presented in Washington, D.C., in the Rayburn House Office Building (B-354) on Capitol Hill on June 11.

STATEWIDE NEWS AND NOTICES

PARK SERVICE PROGRAM SEEKS PROJECT APPLICATIONS

If you are interested in getting technical assistance about trail projects, consider applying for assistance from the National Park Service-Rivers, Trails and Conservation Assistance Program (RTCA). The RTCA staff program has assisted many communities throughout Alaska with a variety of outdoor recreation and natural resource conservation programs. They help partners: think and plan strategically; communicate ideas and build relationships; find funding sources; navigate state and federal regulations; design and construct trails; and create conservation networks.

People interested in assistance for the next fiscal year (Oct 2014–Sept 2015), should submit an application to the Anchorage RTCA office no later than August 1, 2014. The application is available on the website (<http://go.nps.gov/alaska/rtca>) under “How to Get RTCA Help.”

All sorts of organizations may apply, including local, state, federal and tribal governments, nonprofits and unincorporated groups. (Federal applications must have at least one non-federal committed partner.) Interested people should give the Alaska RTCA staff (Lisa Holzapfel 907/644-3586; Heather Rice 907/644-3587) a call to discuss project ideas before submitting an application.

WATCH FOR BIRD NESTS WHEN WORKING ON TRAILS

Trail work sometimes requires downing trees or clearing shrubs. When doing so make sure not to violate the Migratory Bird Treaty Act, which makes it illegal for anyone to “take” migratory birds, their eggs, feathers, or nests. “Take” includes destroying or damaging active bird nests or eggs. Different areas of the state have different sensitive periods generally occurring between April 15 and July 25. However, if you encounter an active nest at any time leave it in place and protected until young hatch and depart. “Active” is indicated by intact eggs, live chicks, or the presence of an adult on the nest.

NATIONWIDE NEWS AND NOTICES

PARK SERVICE LEADS HEALTHY PARKS, HEALTHY PEOPLE PROGRAM

Healthy Parks Healthy People is a global movement that harnesses the power of parks and public lands in contributing to a healthy civil society. The idea originated with Parks Victoria, Australia, and was brought to global prominence at the 1st Healthy Parks Healthy People Congress in April, 2010.

The National Park Service’s Healthy Parks Healthy People US program was established in 2011, to reframe the role of parks and public lands as an emerging, powerful health prevention strategy. With this renewed focus on health, we hope to bring about lasting change in Americans’ lifestyle choices and their relationship with nature and the outdoors.

Although Healthy Parks Healthy People US is based within the National Park Service, the program works with national, state, and local parks, as well as business innovators, healthcare leaders, scientists, foundations and advocacy organizations to foster and build-upon the role that parks play in the health of our society.

FOREST SERVICE SEEKS COMMENT ON OVER-SNOW VEHICLE PROPOSAL

The U.S. Forest Service has published a Federal Register Notice seeking public comment on a proposal that would help standardize where and when over-snow vehicles, such as snowmobiles, are used on national forests and grasslands. See www.fs.fed.us/publications/over-snow-vehicle-faqs.pdf.
